

Covid-19 update from VincentStokes

Dear All

We just thought we would drop you all a note to let you know how VincentStokes is dealing with the current pandemic.

We are following the current government guidelines to protect our team and supply chain from the risk of the virus, this means on some projects we're focusing on project design, working from home and utilising on line meeting forums. On other projects, in line with the Government guidance, we're still maintaining progress, albeit slower than we would like. Unfortunately some projects are on hold due to the restrictive nature of the sites, however these are being reviewed bi-weekly, with a view to opening them as soon as possible.

On a positive note, our Clients are keen to start back on projects that are ongoing as soon as possible and green shoots are evident with potential new projects commencing later in the year; Ward Freman, Hobbledown and the associated golf project, SLM Fareham, Porchester Spa, Southwark Athletics to name a few, so there is a light at the end of the tunnel. We see this a short term crisis.

We would be very interested to hear from you all as to how your businesses are dealing with this current crisis, what your thoughts are on moving forward and also how your own supply chain is coping.

Our door is always 'digitally' open, look forward to hearing from you.
